THE RED BIRETTA.

Etiquette Observed in Bestowing the Cardinal's Hat.

Rome Correspondence Pall Mall Gazette. In the last consistory three red hats were bestowed on three cardinals, who were last year elected to the purple. One of these is Archbishop Skrbensky of Prague, who is the youngest member of the sacred college, being only thirty-eight, a most exceptional age to be thus honored.

The see of Prague has, together with one or two others, a special privilege, that of wearing the red biretta from the moment he is created. The usual rule is that a cardinal, although enjoying all the privileges of his position and ranking with his colleagues, is not allowed to wear his red hat until it is actually bestowed, which is often

Many years ago Prince Swarzemberg, cardinal and archbishop of Prague, happened to be in Rome when the consistory took place, so was invited by Gregory XVI to come and receive his hat from him personally. The cardinals to be thus honored all gathered, black birettas in hand, which made the red one held by Prince Swarzem-berg most conspicuous. The prelates of the chamber remonstrated saving he had made a mistake and must exchange for a black one, but he insisted that it was his privilege and that he intended to go thus into the papal presence. Things were becoming most strained and heated, as neither side would give way, when a clever person dex-terously suppressed the red apple of discord, and thus forced the cardinal to go into the presence empty-handed. As to whether he was within his rights or not has never, I believe, been decided.

GOOD DEMAND FOR BABIES. New York's Flourishing Business in

From the New York Sun.

At least one hundred foundlings-that is, technically, children less than five months old to whose parentage there is no clueare picked up every year in the streets of this city. They used to be shipped off to the infant asylum on Randall's Island and there they died off as if a pestilence raged in the place. All that has been changed now. As the result of the investigation instituted about three years ago by the State Charities Aid Association and the Society for Improving the Condition of the Poor. the bables are left in care of institutional charity no longer than is necessary. They are kept in Bellevue Hospital under treatment only till homes are found where they can have proper nursing and almost a

In the past year after the change was made the death rate among the bables fell more than 55 per cent, the next year it fell 31 per cent more. Now less than 15 per cent of these waifs of the streets die. Little difficulty is found in providing homes for the bables. The State Charities Aid Association and the Guild of the Infant Saviour, which have the work in charge, do quite a rushing mail order business in babies. Inquiries for healthy, eligible foundlings come from all over the country. One recent ap-plication for a girl baby came from the wanted. It-or rather she-was to have blue eyes and fair hair and she might be of any age from fifteen months to two years. The mayor got the baby.

From as far west as Denver and as far south as Alabama have come the requests for babies. Here is one order from a colored family in Pittsburg which is still wait-ing to be filled: "Boy, anywhere under two years old, not black. Must be light col-

AUTHOR AS PIG CHARMER.

How He Saved an Old "Zow" and Was Cured Himself.

From the London M. A. P. That versatile author, the Rev. Sabine Baring-Gould, tells many amusing anecdotes concerning life in his little Cornish parish. One of these, which is intensely characteristic of the superstitious but goodnatured Cornish folk, is worthy of being rescued from oblivion. An old lady, one of Mr. Gould's parishioners, came to him one day and earnestly besought him to come and see her "ow'd zow," which, she said, was "very bad." The author of "Mehalah" protested, and said that he could do the poor animal no good, for he was a parson. not a veterinary surgeon. But the words" over the pig it might recover. ligsty, where the old sow lay panting in the last throes of death. Entering the sty, with mock reverence he marched round the pig, and in a sepulchral voice uttered with mock reverence he marched round the pig, and in a sepulchrar voice uttered the words, "O pig, if thou livest thou liv-est; but, O pig, if thou diest thou diest." And, strange to say, the pig got better, much to the delight of the old lady, who put implicit faith in the efficacy of the 'few words' the parson said.

In after days the scene was changed Baring-Gould lay on a bed of suffering, night unto death. No one, not even the members of his own family, was allowed to see him. The doctors were consulting in low tones, and expressing the conviction that the quinsy would soon carry the author to the better land. Suddenly the front door bell was vigorously handled, and the servant angrily answered the impatient stranger. An old lady having heard that the parson answered the impatient stranger. was ill, and was not likely to recover, wished—nay, demanded—to see him. That is how, as Mr. Baring-Gould loves to say, he was saved by a "zow."

THE BOARDWALK

THE PRESIDENT AND FAMILY EXPECTED FOR FLORAL PARADE.

A Cordial Invitation Extended to Chief Executive, With All Possible Ceremony and Eclat.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 25, 1902. The horse show and the L. A. W. have now taken their respective parts in the summer's entertainment, and events at the shore have been recorded in the city's annual history. The resort is now looking forward to something of far more importance from a national point of view than anything that has ever been attempted before. It is of national importance, considering the fact that President Roosevelt has stated that, business of state permitting, he would be present in this city on the day

The day is Friday, August 8, when the greatest floral pageant that has ever been held in this city will pass down the popular boardwalk. It is to be a flower parade and nothing else, and the objects around which the sweetscented flowers of all kinds, species and descriptions are to be twined are the equally popular rolling chairs that are daily in use on the esplanade. In all some 1.500 chairs are used here. They will all be prettitly decorated with the prettiest of the floral representatives that can be had, and a great and grand procession will start near the Inlet and go down the boardwalk to Chelsea and back

This promises to become a regular sumer attraction, so enthused are the people of the city and the thousands of visitors sojourning here over the coming floral parade. The beach front hotel proprietors are subscribing very liberally for the parade's success, and the railroads have agreed to run very cheap excursions into the city for that day.

A special messenger was sent to Oyster Bay, the President's summer home, with two very cordial and pressing invitations from the city and the committee having the affair in charge, and he stated in responce to the same that if it would be possible to get away he would surely be here on that day. As a result there is being built on the boardwalk a special stand for the President and other prominent guests who will be entertained by the city on the day of the floral parade. There will be several members of the President's cabinet, headed by Attorney General Knox, who is here with his family, as well as a couple of gover-nors and, it is thought, mayors galore. In fact, it will be a great day for Atlantic

GAYETY AT CAPON SPRINGS.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star.

CAPON SPRINGS, W. Va., July 24, 1902. The prediction that the present season would be a successful one at Capon has already been more than verified, for never has the famous old resort known a gayer or more prosperous one that it is enjoying at present. The last few days have been particularly crowned with pleasant events. On Monday Mrs. John E. Bell of Cincinnatl gave one of the handsomest card parties which has ever occurred here. The individual favors were American beauty roses for the women and boutonnieres of sweet peas for the men. The same flowers were also lavishly combined in the decorations. The winners of the prizes were Mrs. Emmett Tompkins of Washington, Miss Sturgeon of Philadelphia, Mrs. Bevan Miller and Miss Sarah Harrison Powell of Baltimore. Rev. Dr. F. A. Henry, Morristown, N. J.; Mr. Worthington Robinson, Louisville, and Mr. Joseph Garr, New Orleans. Monday evening a german was given by the young men of the Springs and successfully led by Mr. Cheevers Moran Barry of Nerfolk, Va. Among the dancers were Miss Bella Bateman, Miss Simpson, Miss Daisy Mackall, Mr. D. Barton Mackall, Mr. Paul Waggaman and Mr. Paul Mackall, all of Washington. Tuesday morning Mrs. F. A. Henry, formerly of Washington, but now of Morristown, N. J., gave a beautifully arranged seven-handed euchre upon the lawn. At the conclusion of the games luncheon was served, and the prizes awarded to the following winners: Mrs. Emmett Tompkins, Washington; Mr. George L. Mackey, St. Louis; Mrs. Wm. Pearsall, Philadelphia; Mrs. Walter Robertson, Chicago; Mrs. de Montluzin, New Orleans; Mrs. Bridgeford, Louisville, and Miss Alice Ham-mond of Baltimore. Another very delightful card party of the week was that given Wednesday evening by Mrs. E. F. Mackall of Washington. Progressive euchre was played, the winners of the prizes being Miss Ellen Joyce, Phila-delphia; Mrs. Edward Warren Hall, Baltimore; Mrs. Groscup, Washington, and Mrs. Gosling, Cincinnati. A "handsome supper was served at the conclusion of the games.

The chief event of the week among the younger people was a straw ride of forty-five guests, given by Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Jones of Washington in honor of their daughter, Miss Lucie Jones. Supper was served at Capon Lake Inn, the tables being arranged out of doors in the moonlight, to which additional brilliancy was added by hundreds of Chinese lanterns. The evening concluded with dancing in the great dining room of the inn, music being furnished by a portion of the Capon Springs Orchestra. portion of the Capon Springs Orcnesira.

Monday evening a very pretty children's supper was also given by Mr. and Mrs.

Jones for their two younger daughters,
Misses Edna and Inez Jones. Thursday morning a "picnic euchre," arranged by Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wright of Cincinnati was given in the hall room. Everybody was given in the ball room. Everybody who went took a prize well wrapped up and every one received something in return, selecting according to scores from the general pile.

Mr. Richard Weightman of Washington arrived at Capon last Sunday, having made a driving trip from Snickersville in Loudoun county to the Springs.

Another arrival of the week is Mr. John

G. Bassell, formerly of Leesburg, Va., but new of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. John Chew of Washington, former attache to the United States legation in Germany, is a recent addition to the list of beaux at the Springs. Two additions to the younger married set are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Parrish of One of the most attractive and popular members of the older set at the Springs is Mrs. W. D. Wyville of Washington.

COLD WATER TALKS.

The Glistening Beverage Lauded and Drunk.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. OCEAN GROVE, N. J., July 25, 1902.

With the meetings of the school of methods of the Women's Christian Temnion on Wednesday and With the great rush of visitors that is day, the convention of the National Temperance Society on today and tomorrow and the annual temperance Sunday celeweek, or those who have been here since bration in prospect for Sunday, Ocean the opening of the season, Cape May will Grove is having a famous week of cold water talk and a perfect invasion of the The school of methods attracted splendid attendance from the summer colony at the Grove, and the meetings were addressed by the following women high in the councils of the white ribboners: Rev. Anna Shaw, Mrs. Ella B. Carter, Miss Emily E. Williamson, Miss M. L. Orr, Miss Alice M. Guernsey, Mrs. D. P. Peeke.

The National Temperance Society's chief work is the circulation of temperance literature. At today's session the work of the past year was reviewed and tomorrow's work will be chiefly along the lines of arranging plans and appointing the various committees for the promotion of the interests of the society during the coming year. On Sunday the sermons and hymns of the Auditorium services will be of a distinctly temperance character, thus rounding out the week.

On Monday last the summer convention of the Woman's Suffrage Association began a two days' session in the Auditorium. musical features of the week's program in the Auditorium have been most attractive. On last Saturday evening the "Angels Trio" and Gaul's "Holy City" were given with the famous chorus of 250 voices and the Auditorium orchestra of fifty members.

A Ding-Dong Club to Play Ping-Pong.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. . SPRING LAKE, N. J., July 25, 1902. At the Casino a morning german was Tuesday's feature, and eight figures were danced.

The Ding-Dong Club is the name of a sub organization at the Casino which has been recently organized for the promotion of ping-pong tourneys. At the Breakers the other evening young folks of the hotel were entertained at a cakewalk given by colored "artists." The performance, although projected solely for the benefit of the juveniles, was greatly enjoyed by a company of their elders. The Breakers will also entertain with a full dress hop tomorrow evening and for Sunday a sacred concert is proposed.

SEA BRIGHT, July 25, 1902. At the Monmouth Beach Golf Club the women's competition for the silver trophy cup offered by the president of that organization was concluded this week and Miss Louise Vanderhoef captured the championship. An old-fashioned basket picnic was given by Mr. George Cooper to a party of twentytwo, composed chiefly of Sea Bright Inn's patrons, last Sunday morning. The company boarded the launch Water Witch and proceeded up the Shrewsbury river to Rea Bank, where some more of Mr. Cooper's friends joined the excursion. After a brief return to Sea Bright and a plunge in the surf, the party headed for Hartshorne Hills, where the picnic was served in a Hills, where the picnic was served in a pretty woods a few hundred yards distant from the shore. After luncheon the party boarded the launch for the third time and proceeded seaward until almost opposite Sandy Hook, then turning proceeded down the first time and the first time and proceeded seaward until almost opposite to the first time and the first t

A MOONLIGHT CARNIVAL. Followed by a Clam Chowder Supper. Special Correspondence of The Evening Star.

BELMAR, N. J., July 25, 1902.

Shark river presented an entrancing picture on Monday evening when some forty of the dainty craft of the Belmar Yacht Club engaged in a monnlight carnival. Back and forth over the smooth waters of Shark river glided the procession of creamy white sails for an hour and more; then, at a signal from Commodore Carpenter, they separated into two squadrons, one under the command of the commodore and the other with Vice Commodore Walsh at its head. After a few minutes of maneuvers the two squadrons came together in violent pyrotechnic combat. A fierce hall of roman candle stars and rockets passed to and fro between the vessels, and at the conclusion of the battle the yachtsmen repaired to the pretty club house, where a large company of their women friends awaited them. A clam chowder supper was served, for which some 200 covers were laid.

There has been an endless succession of social happenings at the Columbia during the week, and the mellow moonlight has contributed a considerable share of enjoyment to the evening functions.

The Columbia's children's ball was Thursday's feature and the grand march pre-ceding the dance was led by Master Donald Earle of Newark and Miss Grace Finley of Brooklyn. At the weekly euchre party the prizes were won by Miss Cassidy, Mrs. Schiedler and Mrs. Finley. For tomorrow be the feature. Invitations numbering uptagers and friends of the hotel's patrons. Newport has this week been dominated by orange blossoms and bridal veils. James town began it Tuesday with the naval wedding of Lieutenant Arthur T. Chester, son of Captain Colby M. Chester, U. S. A., and Miss Marion L. Cutter, daughter of E. C. Cutter of Washington. Lieutenant Chester is attached to the U. S. S. Praire. The date of another wedding has finally been fixed, that of Miss Ethel Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julien Tappan Davies and Mr Archibald Gourlay Thacher, all of New York. It is to be held at All Saints' Chapel

August 9. The North Atlantic squadron has begun to arrive, also the torpedo boat flotilla for forthcoming maneuvers. The week brought two large visiting parties, the Rhode Island Yacht Club and the Merchant Tourists of Maryland.

Entertaining was general this week, but no very large or important dinners were The most noteworthy were the dinners given by Dr. and Mrs. Alex S. Clarke of New York at Beechbound in honor of Gen. Horace Porter, and that jointly ten-dered Gen. Porter and ex-Senator Wolcott of Colorado by Senator and Mrs. Peabody Wetmore at Chateau sur Mere.
